PARTY LEADERS SEEK SUPPORT

Democratic Chiefs Outline Campaign Program

Government Rail Ownership is Favored

Modified League is Proposed; Feel Public Pulse

BY ROBERT BARRY

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A domestic policy built around government ownership of railroads and a foreign policy based on American participation in a modified League of Nations, conditioned on revision of the economic sections of the Treaty of Versailles, may be expected to be the cornerstone in the "constructive program" of the Democratic party, if soundings now being taken justify.

William G. McAdoo and William Jennings Bryan are said to be the sponsors of the program. Their conference in Washington last week, it now develops, revolved largely around a discussion of these two issues. They are not committed to them, although they favor them under existing conditions. What lies behind their Democratic associates on Capitol Hill—is to determine what popular support could be obtained for the two policies.

One of the primary concerns of the Democrats at present is to cover what newspaper support could be expected for government ownership of railroads. They are not worried, it is said, over the editorials of the small metropolitan press which comes in opposition. Their interest lies in the local dailies and weeklies of the country, where they believe an association with the controversial issue might bring railroads into the public eye and thus promote support for maintenance of transportation under government direction.

EFFECT SUPPORT

Consolidation of systems, elimination of overhead and other measures of economy to be reflected in lower rates without reduced service will be the slogan by which the party will be running, according always the Wilson-McAdoo experiment in running railroads was under war conditions, which did not offer a fair test.

They believe they will have to start with the Bill Four brothers having been active for government ownership for some years. They think they may obtain considerable support in the agricultural section while the war between the farmer-superior and the railroads has crystallized into a demand for rate cuts which the executives declare would be destructive.

With respect to the foreign policy in contemplation by the Democrats, Messrs. McAdoo and Bryan are said to have been in accord as to its general terms. As the former Secretary of the Treasury, he is the home of his father-in-law, Woodrow Wilson, while in Washington there was reason to believe he at least did not oppose their program.

BELIEVE IN LEAGUE

The Democratic conferees were represented as believing popular sentiment for American participation in world affairs, always on the theory of promoting world peace, had grown materially within the past year. The efforts of the Harding administration, helpful in Europe and frequent expression from the White House that the United States had an interest in European affairs, which could not be ignored, had been most helpful to the general theory.

DINK "CANNED HEAT;" TWO DIE

Seven Others Recovering in Sacramento Jail From Poisoning

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE:
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 22.—Two men are dead here and seven others are slowly recovering from poisoning caused by drinking a concoction obtained from a patient "canned heat" containing paraffin and wood alcohol. William Smith, a laborer, and an unidentified man, died Saturday night from paralysis of the heart, caused by the poison. The other seven men are recovering in the City Jail.

of a League of Nations, they believe.

Yet the Democrats under the McAdoo-Bryan leadership do not believe the country would accept the League of Nations, now working at Geneva, as it stands. Constitutional changes to set at rest certain formal objections to the convention would be required, they think, without harm to the central idea of a league of powers to promote world peace. The economic provisions of the treaty proper would be marked for revision and in a manner most likely to favor with the racial groups with whom they remain holding out such a code which would be violation of a law that contemplates nonpartisan operation of the university.

The Governor now is authorized to appoint successors to T. A. Riordan, Democrat, and J. T. Compton of Tucson, Republican, to vacancies in the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Both sides make charge of Political Gaming

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE:
PHOENIX, Jan. 22.—The attempt of Gov. Hunt to throw out the Republican members of the University Board of Regents has failed as to obtaining any resignations. Now the matter is before the Legislature in an administration bill annulling the Nonpartisan Act of the last Legislature through which only two regents could be appointed in any one gubernatorial term.

The Governor now is authorized to appoint successors to T. A.

Riordan, Democrat, and J. T.

Compton of Tucson, Republican,

John H. Campbell and Morris Drachman of Tucson, Dwight B. Head of Phoenix, E. W. Hudson of Tempe, L. D. Ricketts of Warren and Ed W. Wells of Prescott. Drachman, Hudson and Ricketts are understood to be Democrats.

LETTER OF REFUSAL

The members of the board, excluding the Governor and school superintendent, ex-officio, have joined in a letter to the Governor, declining his request that they remain holding out such a code which would be violation of a law that contemplates nonpartisan operation of the university.

The Governor has countered by a letter charging that none of the members "will claim to be free from the taint of party politics."

"We must as well as ever work with one another and admit that some of those closely associated with Partisan Republican politics in Pima county and especially the partisan Republican in Tucson, the State, have attempted to make the university the nucleus for Republican propaganda."

The Governor says, "There now is remembrance that Hunt, when he followed Campion, gave him a Senate late today. It was a Senate bill for the relief of land owners in the Palo Verde Valley of Riverside county, and it passed the Assembly today. It got a unanimous vote in the Senate late today.

Only bills carrying urgency clauses may be passed before the constitutional recess. This bill had such a clause, and required three full roll calls in each house to make it ready for final executive action. Each house believed its bill had had the three roll calls consecutively.

The bill was designed to validate certain bands for the reconstruction of levees in the valley, which is controlled by Colorado River floods last year.

A. E. Parton of Los Angeles, one of the large land owners of the valley, came here about ten days ago to engineer the bill through the Legislature.

Southern Film Chain Will Not Show Arbuckle

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE:
Atlanta (Ga.), Jan. 22.—Motion pictures in which Roscoe Arbuckle appears will not be exhibited by theaters in the Southern states under the supervision of the Southern Enterprises, Inc., according to a statement issued here tonight by that concern. This decision was reached, it is said, after consultation with the advice of "better film committees" and other organizations representing the public throughout the South.

The Southern Enterprises, Inc., supervises the operation of theaters throughout the South, from Georgia, Florida, Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

IMPROVEMENT SEEN IN RUBBER MARKET

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE:
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The conference in progress in New York between representatives of the British Rubber Growers' Association and of the American Rubber Association is expected by officials here to result in an agreement that will greatly ease conditions in the rubber industry.

British capital owns or controls about 80 per cent of the crude rubber properties of the world, a majority of these being in colonies in the Far East. Recently British Colonial legislation was enacted restricting rubber production in the Far East, and the 1920 production as the producers had been selling at less than production costs, owing to overproduction.

The price of crude rubber jumped from about 12 cents early last fall to 35 cents a pound a few days ago, as a result, it is said, of the prospective rubber shortage caused by the British restriction.

It is declared that American representatives at the conference can speak with authority as the United States consumes 70 per cent of the rubber produced in the world.

ABOLITION SOUGHT OF FLEET, SHIP BOARDS

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE:
WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Immediate abolition of the United States Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation and the transfer of their duties to the Commerce Department was advocated today by Senator King, Democrat, who made an address to the Senate for appropriations on the government merchant marine. He declared he would offer a resolution to this effect as a substitute for the ship plan.

Further steps advocated by the Utah Senator included the immediate sale of the ships for what they may bring—as low as $20 a ton, if necessary—and the gift of the remainder to anyone who will engage to operate them.

SOUVENIR ARMY JOINS TURKS

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE:
LONDON, Jan. 22.—A dispatch to The Times from Essen asserts that great concern is felt in British military and official circles in Cologne owing to the French having ordered the expulsion of German finance officials in Cologne. The dispatch says the expulsion cannot be effected owing to the stubborn attitude of the Germans.

The correspondent declares a prolongation of the present situation is regarded as impossible if the entire road system of the State is to be rescued from a complete breakdown. The annual average expenditure recommended by the French for the repair of roads is £12,000,000, but this average must be doubled during the next four or five years. It is asserted, expenditures to be about evenly divided between repair, maintenance and construction of new roads and the completion of the remaining 30,000 miles of the 64,000-mile system.

Outstanding reasons for the present delay with its consequences are the present financial difficulties

and the lack of available labor force.

MESSAGE COMING

Announcement was made that the Governor tomorrow would submit to the Legislature a message bearing upon the Colorado river water rights, a matter on which the Democrats are divided.

A Senate bill by Colter grants suffrage to persons who were granted citizenship by the Mexican government and have lived in the State for 25 years.

This bill, a number of old Spanish speaking residents of Apache county disenchanted for ignorance of English. Under a House bill municipalities would be granted power to incorporate.

Representatives of the Union and Southern Pacific systems indicated that evidence supporting the viewpoint would be introduced at hearings which the commission will hold on the consolidation matter in western cities. All railroads concerned have filed considerable data as amounts of traffic involved in interchanges between them at the present time.

Mr. Storey said that inclusion of the Colorado and Southern system into the Santa Fe, Colorado and Southern, Denver and Rio Grande Western and several smaller lines into one system.

ARTICLE I

(Copyright, 1922, United States, Great Britain, Canada and South America, by North American Publishing Company. All rights reserved. The International Copyright in full or in part is prohibited.)

When, under the shadow of the Statue of Liberty, I found myself bombarded with questions by a score of newspaper representatives who had come aboard the Majestic specially to meet my humble person, I began to have a faint idea of the interest awakened over here by the announcement of my lecture tour. When I found myself escorted soon afterwards by stalwart American policemen from the ship to the automobile waiting to convey me to my temporary home with friends; and when I caught sight of the crowds gathered to welcome me I was deeply impressed and touched that I should be considered worthy of such a reception.

Shall I be accused of lack of modesty if I say that I am proud to have been greeted thus? I think not, because I know that all this sympathy and interest must be attributed to the characteristic keenness of Americans to learn and probe to a deeper degree the methods of auto-suggestion associated with my name.

Since my arrival at New York, the days of which will never be effaced, I have not ceased to marvel at all I have seen and heard and read. Of my general impressions I shall have a lot to say later on. For the moment I am dominated by that feeling of surprise which seized me at my first contact with the American people.

WONDERMENT GROWS

In fact, my wonderment has grown every day with the realization of ideas which many people seem to have formed of me and my powers. I do not want people to have some of falsehood in me. It is true, of course, that blind faith is always an asset in favor of a sick person's chances of getting well. People who come to me with the belief already established in their minds that they are going to be cured are more than half-way on the road to recovery before they see me. But the number of persons who can come into contact with me with the knowledge of my capacity to be infinitely small, and even if I possessed any extraordinary magnetic power to heal-which, I emphatically declare I do not—the results of such power would be limited for obvious reasons; whereas there are no limitations to the potentialities of the system of touch medicine that I do not reach everyone, but every one can practice auto-suggestion. My aim, therefore, is solely to show you how to cure yourselves. Rid yourselves of the utterly wrong idea that I can cure. I am not a doctor.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It

Most people do not realize the mild and immediate effect of alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physician, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

Your other organs may need attention—but your kidneys should have attention first because their work is most important.

If you feel that your kidneys are the cause of your sickness or run-down condition, commence taking Dr. Klimmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney liver and bladder medicine, because as soon as your kidneys begin to improve they will help all the other organs to health.

A Trial Will Convince You

Thousands and thousands of people everywhere have testified that a bottle of Swamp-Root may obtain a lasting ten cents to Dr. Klimmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. This gives you the opportunity of trying the great benefits of great relief from kidney trouble.

[Copyright, 1923, United States, Great Britain, Canada and South America by North American Newspaper Alliance and New York World. These names and the words "North American" and "New York World" are registered trademarks in full or in part respectively registered.]

Since my arrival at New York, the memory of which will never be effaced, I have not ceased to think at all. I have seen and heard and read of the general impressions I shall have a lot to say later on. For the moment I am still dominated by that feeling of surprise which seized me at my first contact with the American people.

WONDERMENT GROWS

In fact my wonderment has grown every day with the realization of ideas which many people seem to have formed of me and my powers. I do not want people to have a sort of fanatical belief in me. It is true, of course, that blind faith is always a base in favor of a sick person's chances of getting well. People who come to me with the belief already established in their minds that they shall be cured immediately, are half-way on the road to recovery before they see me. But the number of persons who can come into direct contact with me must of necessity be infinitely small, and even if I possessed any extraordinary magnetic power to heal

NOT A DOCTOR

I had a first inkling of the mistake America was making when newspaper reporters on the Majestic addressed me as "Doctor" and "Professor," and I was obliged to correct them with reminders that I am not a doctor; I am not a professor." The papers continue to talk of the cures I have effected in my "clinic"—a bad word, by the way, for the little gatherings at which I meet a selected number of patients in order to endeavor to convince them that by following my methods of autosuggestion they can cure themselves, or at least gain appreciable improvement. Yet it has been my joy to benefit many of those poor sufferers from my teaching; but my joy will be still greater if I succeed in spreading faith in those methods to hundreds of thousands of others and instill in them the knowledge that they can cure themselves without seeing me at all. And it will be impossible to attain that goal if the impression is allowed to persist that it is necessary to come into personal contact with me in order to obtain results.

Unfortunately, it is very difficult to convince some people that I do not exercise a certain influence over others. When I tell them that they must count upon themselves, not upon me, they often reply "I don't care what you say, you do wield power, and when I am with you I get better results than when I am alone." Well, that may be true in many cases. But the reason is, as I have already indicated, that a person who has faith enough to come to me is already half-convinced by the very faith.

There is another aspect of the question. If I possessed any real power, surely it should have the same effect upon all. Yet that is not the case. Upon some my influence is about nil, while upon others it may be immense. Which proves that it is not and cannot be an essential factor in the efficacy of my system.

IN THE IMAGINATION

It exists merely in the imagination of certain persons, and as I have explained—it hope convincingly—in previous articles, the imagination is all-powerful, so in such instances it really does aid recovery of health. But it would be a sorry action to allow it to be thought that personal contact with me is necessary. I want American citizens all over the continent to understand that all they need is a proper comprehension of the principles of autosuggestion—that it is simplicity itself—together with a belief in its effectiveness.

I do not claim to have invented anything, but I have succeeded to simple formulae for everyday use and practice theories which were known to be truths thousands of years ago. Still less have I invented a new faith, as some would suppose. In this connection, a day a gentleman interviewed by one of your newspapers, described my method of Auto-suggestion as a "direct challenge to the Church." I confess I fail to see any relation between religion and auto-suggestion. Is Medicine a challenge to the Church? Auto-suggestion is only the use of natural forces and functions of our being, and can be practiced by Catholics and Protestants, by Moslems and Hindus, without violating any of the precepts or doctrinal principles of those Churches or religions. Did not Saint Paul write of the "Faith that moveth mountains"? Surely it cannot be wrong to make use of the qualities which the Creator himself has given us.

Other religious leaders look askance at Auto-suggestion because it has come to be associated with "miracles" which are believed to have worked. Now, miracles do not exist. I have never accomplished any, and never shall.

NOT MIRACLES

As a matter of fact, the so-called "miraculous" cures are the simplest and the most easily explained of all.

They prove that, actually, the sufferers only thought they were sick. Thought produced (or prolonged) the symptoms; and in that respect they were really sick.

But directly they were made to realize that their ill could be overcome by imagination they were cured.

It may seem rather unnecessary for me to answer the few criticisms of which I have been the object in the atmosphere of exceptional interest in which I find myself. But I am anxious to clear the path of my American tour of all misunderstandings. I wish to be taken seriously by serious-minded people. I want everyone to be informed that the theories I advance, reduced as they are to their simplest expression, are nevertheless built upon a groundwork of scientific fact.

GRAPES

have been one of the most profitable crops grown in California since the days of the early Missions. When the sturdy founders of the Golden State established their outlying settlements they found the soil and climate perfectly adapted to the pleasant and profitable industry of grape growing. From that day to this, during the century and a half of California development, grapes have contributed more to the State's prosperity than any other product of the soil. They have always been a tremendous source of revenue. They continue profitable today and should remain so for ages to come.

Nowhere in Southern California is there a greater investment opportunity in vineyards to be found than at Fontana. There the Fontana Farms Company, through 17 years of constant development, and the expenditure of millions of dollars has perfected one of the greatest vineyard properties in the world.

Southern California's MOST FAMOUS GRAPE LAND

These vineyards, under one of the best irrigating systems in the West, are offered for sale at only $500 per acre upon easy terms, payable over 5 years.

The Fontana Farms Company furnishes all cultural care and water, free of charge, for three years from date of planting.

Only irrigated vineyards yield big returns—from 6 to 8 and even 10 tons to the acre, and last season prices paid ranged from $75 to $140 per ton.

Fontana offers one of the very best land investment opportunities in California today. You should obtain full information at once.

THE MISTAKES OF THE KAISER

AN ANSWER TO THE KAISER'S MEMOIRS

BY RENE VIVIANI
Premier of France When the War Broke Out
(Copyright, 1922, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

XXXVII.—THE ABDICATION

In the month of July, 1918, the fourth anniversary of the implacable war was about to come, and the opposing armies, so disproportionate at the beginning, were vigorous, well armed, ready for battle. But—now the stakes were different. In 1914 France had held in her hands not only her own fate, but the fate of the world. No matter what might happen after the Marne, after the Yser, after Verdun, after the terrible recovery of 1918, after the formidable onset of the Americans against the common enemy, the future, though still dark, was less terrible than it had been at the beginning of the war.

But Germany now stood on the pit which she herself had dug.

She could no longer count on winning victory by one final blow or on being lastingly favored by fortune. It was necessary for her to advance enough for obtaining a favorable armistice, leaving neither victor nor vanquished. If not this, there were left to her only two alternatives: to yield to die.

ATTACK SMASHED

The German army, on the terrible evening of July 14, 1918, plunged forward in an attack which was expected by the French high command and received by the Allied armies in such fashion that it was smashed to pieces at the very outset. The German army was hurried back in confusion and terror, torn to pieces on the wire entanglements of the no-man's-land fighting under a single command for a single purpose; the Germans were cowed by the havoc wrought by the infernal inventions which they had been the first to employ in a haphazard manner; and, little by little, the German army, It was the end. The huge organization drew together, no longer able to fill the gaps in its ranks, and the German soldiers learned while they retreated that there was an army held in reserve that they themselves were the only rampart protecting their crumbling country. But the army of combatants was disorganized, scattered, laid the remote fatherland, innumerable villages traversed before by the light of conflagrations voluntarily kindled, when those same soldiers were bent under the weight of the plow that they were carrying.

PREY TO ANXIETY

At the Kaiser's headquarters everything suddenly became something around him, something which had become during the past few weeks the prey of terror and of mortal anxiety, which had wrinkled his forehead and cheeks. Around that man before whom all had bowed, that man who had expected to dominate the world, even though faithful were beginning to waver, and misfortune, in the guise of tardy and incomplete retribution, was now beginning to close down upon this meek man, who had never realized that misfortune might do, who was incapable of enduring it.

The greatest of the German army was shaken by what is falling them, the overwhelming catastrophe blows from all quarters upon the helpless ship, whose captain, unable to meet the tempest face to face, seeks, with terror-stricken eyes, the light of the far-off beacon, the shipwreck, the bor, the lifeboat, safety in flight. Now is when his qualities and virtues are to be put to the test—for it is by marching them against adversity that the characters of men are judged.

READY TO COLLAPSE

Germany was in revolt. Everythin points to this, but contrary to what is told by those who wish to preserve his German army's reputation, that army was exhausted, crushed, incapable of going further, ready to surrender if the Allies had continued their efforts. It was a case of complete collapse; army and nation were a prey to the same panic. Something must be done. The Emperor must adopt some course of action.

How well had Bismarck and the father of the Kaiser understood the character of "the young man full of tricks," the comedian, the man with the little brain, the mediocre actor?

Nothing is more pitiful than that part of his Memoirs where he explains the vents bearing down upon him. What happened is well known. It is quite evident that he would have been filled with surprise at having been of so little importance at the end of the drama and at the fact that the scenario suddenly dropped down upon his head while he was still acting out the end of his part.

And now, as our soldiers were no longer sure of their troops. These men, who had created and imposed upon others the terrible bonds of German discipline, gauged at a glance the state of mind, of the desire to develop into open revolt, among the soldiers, now sad and half-sad, who tomorrow were to be wild with desperation. And they told the Kaiser their thoughts.

"Ah, well, they are probably exaggerating," thinks the Kaiser, lost in the fighting, which will allow him to rest upon his brow, already almost livid, the tottering impperial crown.

DOOMED MEN AWAIT WORD FROM GOVERNOR

RICHARDSON NOT EXPECTED TO INTERVENE TO SAVE PAIR

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 22.—Unless Gov. Richardson intervenes, two men will be executed in California's State prisons next Friday.

Gull Mohammed, alias Ulah Mohammed, will be hanged at San Quentin Penitentiary for the murder in Sonoma county of Ali Khan and Felipe Bisquera will pay the penalty at Folsom Prison for the murder of C. N. Cox, a lumber company superintendent at Massack, Placer county.

In both cases, testimony at the trials showed, the slayers acted in cold blood.

There was nothing to show, at the executive offices here today, that Gov. Richardson would act to prevent the hangings, which have been opposed by women's organizations and other persons opposed to capital punishment.

ASSESSOR FORGER HELD

BOSTON, Jan. 22.—The Calumet and Hecla Mining Company today declared a dividend of $7 a share. Three months ago a $5 dividend was declared. The stock advanced ten points on the local exchange on the announcement of the action.

Ahmeek, a subsidiary of Calumet and Hecla, declared a dividend of $1 a share, similar in amount to the last dividend paid on December 16, 1922.

STRIKERS REFUTE PLEAS OF GUILTY

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.), Jan. 22.—Luther Wise and "Red" Orr, striking employees of the Missouri and Northwest Arkansas Railroad, testified before a joint legislative committee that they had pleaded guilty to charges of arson at Harrison last week "to save their necks." The men are under sentences of from seven to ten years each.

Both men deposed under oath that their pleas of guilty were made solely because they felt they would not be safe in the jail at Harrison. They testified they asked Judge S. E. Bell in Gravely Valley, Lake county,

The original contract called for a perpendicular dam, but after the work was under way, according to testimony, the contractor was ordered to change it to a dam sloping from the river bed to an angle of forty-five degrees.

Let him live, if living brings him joy! Let him taste, almost on the anniversary of the Kaiser's death, the perverse joys of a senile betrothal!

The man belongs to history—let us leave history to complete her work.

Red and Bill Wax Busy in Contract Line and Shoot Out Bunch

BALL SKIPPERS IN A QUANDARY

Killefer and Easick Posed Over Line-ups

Red is Worried Over His Hitting Staff

May a Power of Strength to the Tigers

BY ED O'NEALITY
These jolly skippers, Morris Killefer and Easick of the Los Angeles and Vernon ball clubs, respectively, got busy in the contract line yesterday and before the afternoon had slipped by they had put out the batch of the blanked contracts, comprising diamond pastimes of all ages and denominations.

It is palpable at the very outset that the two rival clubs will be forced to take a stand on the young birds this spring and any one that turns up of a promising nature is sure to have the O.O. swung on him frequently. Future greats will be a source of much worry to Wade and Bill this year.

HAD TO TALK

Killefer has a Herculean task awaiting him in getting seven well-fed, highly intelligent and willing heavers. The cutting-out process should about turn Wade's hair a disappointed suburb. The latest news in the Killefer barracks is that Harry York wants to be left alone while the young singer of horseshoes and Red is smothered of the sinister-winged, why it is easy to see that York will get in.

The Cherubines regulars in the present season will be run something like this: Pomer, Grandall, Lyons, Wallace, Hughes, Thomas, York and Jones.

We venture on naming the following as the Angels' outfit for the coming season: Left: Twenty-five in right and other. Middle: Red or another man, whom Red is to get from the Cubs, and who will be a .300 hitter or better. At second Red will be a fixture. Marty has Red in his mind, while the white and is a high-class second rocker. Griggs and Golvin will alternate at first. Red will start the ball rolling at Elsinore February 27.

WATCH BILL

Bill Easick is sure to swing a high-class club into action by the time early April creeps around. If May remains with him and all things hrove well, Jake should be a power of strength to Bill in the pitching line. He will also have Wheeler Dell, who scorns the phrase "has been." And there will be Bill James, Jim Jolly, Gilder, Shillenback (a bird of a team), his old pal Olden (not true) and several promising south-paws. Hawk wants to play first but he hardly has a chance with Hyatt, Locker and Murphy staring him in the face. Then there will be Sawyer and Gorman for the Raystones, French at short and Smith at third.

The outfield Bill will have the following to pick from: High, Chadbourn, Eddie, Schneider, O'Brien, Blenkarn and others. Some bunch, we say. Easick will send his lads into practice at Vernon February 19.

ARIZONA POLOISTS TO INVADE CROWN CITY

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

TUCSON, Ariz., Jan. 28.—The University of Arizona polo team will take part in the international polo tournament at Pasadena, in April. Invitation has been extended by the tournament director, Stephen Denmon, who lately staged a practice game of the local team on the grounds and who pronounced the work good. In the meantime it is expected that contests will be had with cavalry teams from Fort Huachuca and Fort Bliss. A new polo field will be completed and space will be provided for the ponies, separate from those used for the cavalry mounts. Colton Parker expects to take two teams to Pasadena in special competition with Stanford and the University of California.

VISALIA, Jan. 28.—San Bernardino's Southern California championship American Legion football team has accepted Visalia's challenge to a game for the State title to be played in Visalia, probably next Sunday, exact date to be fixed within a day or two. The only proviso was that Visalia guaranteed the southerners $750 to cover expenses. Gate receipts will be split 40 per cent to the winner, 60 per cent to the losers.

Woodlands, fortuitous of Visalia, places the State title squarely between Visalia and San Bernardino, as Woodland was champion of Northern California.

Here is something which hardly will amaze Gloomy Gus toward his morning ham and eggs. It is from Charles F. Farrand, 1200 Leighton avenue, Los Angeles:

"I have been much interested in your articles concerning Coach Elmer Henderson of U.S.C. After watching football both in the East and the West, I fail to see where any coach has anything on Henderson. There are very few, if any, coaches who could have taken hold of such a team as U.S.C. had and worked similar wonders with it. Bringing an eleven that ranked little better than prep teams close to the very pinnacle of football is no mean achievement."

"Of the Trojan eleven which started against Penn State on January 1 only two of them started against Washington State in December, 1921. Of the 1921 team, seven graduated, Johnny Boyle cracked his leg and the others failed to make the grade, leaving only Callahan and Kinney who could win regular positions. Bringing a practically new team to this position in football is an achievement which speaks for itself."

That much is coming to Gus. No hand-film less would be to hold out on him.

Possibly you observed how the Trojans started off easily in the season with some stiff penalties inflicted on them, particularly for holding, but that they seldom were penalized as the season advanced. There was a reason, the whereabouts of which I have just learned.

While football fundamentals are the groundwork of Henderson's system, he drills his men even more assiduously in the code of clean play. To hold is with him an offense only less serious than shoving or similarly dirty tactics. Many coaches and many players do not regard holding as a questionable practice. In fact, it is regarded as a virtue unless the offender is apprehended. It so happened that Henderson had two new men who had been drilled in the latter system. He tried to train the holding idea out of them, but didn't wholly succeed. In the excitement of battle they reverted to this trick. Hence the stiff penalties. Then it was that Henderson was able to emphasize on them that holding does not pay, even though some enthusiasts may not regard it as wholly unethical. And under these circumstances the pair of over-eager athletes were sufficiently impressed to remember the Henderson code even in the wildest moments.

Probably at this time a New York opinion of Jess Willard will prove of interest. Here is how he impressed Igno, boxing expert of the New York World:

"A good night's rest, an icy shower and a happy hop, skip and jump into a crisp twine suit seemed to transform Jess Willard into an imposing heavyweight challenger. To tell the truth, this giant fellow looked formidable, talked that way and acted the same. He is not, the creeping, clinging, alibi-ing ex-champion you might have pictured in your mind, the broken king who would attempt to regain a throne with the lower end before the only bright spot of the quest."

"He is not fat. Get that idea out of your head. You must remember that Jess Willard is a giant—one of the largest men who ever entered the ring. He hasn't an aldermanic tummy. You are conscious that he is not lean; but looking at that fellow you'd surely say to yourself: 'Why, he'd be trim, hard and dandy with five months' training.' His face is full and heavy, but he hasn't got three or four double chins. The massive jawbone is still discernible, the eyes clear and snappy."

"And what hands; one of them could crush a watermelon as you smash a grape between your fingers. In a long term of looking at the giants of the ring we've never seen such mauls. They're not fat, and as we sat there looking at these implements of ring war it came to our mind that Toledo's might have been an altogether different story had Willard really got started or had beaten Jack to the punch."

"These hands were not fatty nor were his arms. Jess looked like a man who could get ready. We didn't think so before, but we'll admit that his condition has surprised us."

Bear Basket Tossers Will Play Trojans

Players Reach Semifinals of Tennis Tourney

Racket wielders in the invitational tennis tournament staged by the Pasadena Tennis Club in the Crown City last Saturday and Sunday have reached the semifinal round in the singles and doubles events. It was announced last night that the semifinals will be played next Saturday and the tournament will be concluded Sunday with the final events.

Peek of Whittier furnished the only upset of the tournament in the men's singles when he defeated Clarence L. Jones, 3-6, 6-3. Peek was defeated later, however, in the round before the semifinal sets, 6-1, 6-1.

The remaining sets will bring seventh. Harold Godshall in the lower section.

In the two games which have been played so far which may be said to have been representative of the kind of teams which will be met this year, the Los Angeles Athletic Club was victorious by close scores.

AL ST. JOHN SHOWS CLASS AS A BOWLER

Everything is set and ready for what promises to be the best wrestling show that has been put on the boards here, and it seems certain that an enthusiastic crowd of wrestling fans are going to be present near packing the Hollywood stadium Wednesday evening.

Jim London, the Greek champion, and Constantine Romanoff are down to put on the real fireworks of the evening in the two falls. Romanoff will have weight, height and reach on the Greek, but what London lacks in these respects he will make up by his endurance.

Besides the appearance of these grapplers, Angie Taramachi, the Italian, will meet George Vassell of Texas and Two Miyake, the Japanese expert, meets Cyclone Burns of Utah.

FRED WRIGHT IS NOT A GOLF PRO

Fred J. Wright, prominent Los Angeles golfer, wishes to make it perfectly clear to all whom it may concern that he is not a professional golfer.

During the past few weeks there has been a little chatter dying about the point that Fred Wright is a professional. This has more or less affected Wright's standing and he would like to have it understood that he is still an amateur.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—One of the most progressive policies which the executive committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association has ever recommended will be brought before the national association's annual meeting when the new junior and boys' sections are submitted for approval.

The most sweeping and at the same time progressive step is the opening of the national championships to far more boys than in years past. The new rules will open nearly open junior and boys' championship has been felt throughout the entire country, so that the new proposal should meet with popular approval.

The new rules provide that every boy who reaches the semi-final round of a sanctioned junior or boys' event is eligible to compete in the championship event in the

READY FOR TITLE PLAY

Semifinal Drawings Made in National Soccer Championships by Committeemen

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The draw for the divisional semifinals of the national challenge cup competition, or national soccer championships, has just been announced by the N.C.C.C. committee, headed by Thomas Bagshaw of Arlington, N. Y. The pairings were made geographically, the most neighborly teams surviving the fourth round of the elimination series being thrown together for the semifinals.

In the Western Division, the Bricklayers F.C., famous Chicago team, was paired with the last St. Louis survivor, the Scullin Steel F.C., present National Champions in the Missouri-Illinois semifinals in the Western Pennsylvania semifinal, the Arden and Jeannette teams of the Western Pennsylvania towns of those names will clinch one of the entries, having eliminated from the national title quest Ohio and Michigan's best teams.

BATTLE WINNER

In the Eastern Division, New York Soccer Club and Paterson (N. J.) Football Club will meet in the New York-New Jersey semifinal, and the J. & F. Cane eleven of Pawtucket, R. I., like New York and Paterson, an American League team, will battle the winner of the newly proposed fourth-round game between the Fore River F.C. of Quincy, Mass., and the Abbott Worsted F.C. of Forge Village, Mass., in the New England semifinal.

Dates and locations of the semifinal matches will be announced in the near future by the N.C.C.C. Emergency Committee, consisting of Chairman Bagshaw and Secretary Cahill of the larger committee. It is expected divisional semifinals will be completed by the middle of March, and the divisional and national finals by the end of that month, so that the national final can be staged in the latter part of March. It is to be played in the East this year, quite possibly on the Polo Grounds or Harrison (N. J.) Federal League Baseball Park, one of the finest soccer grounds of the East.

The National Cup Committee suspended player G. Cant, a star of the Bricklayers of Chicago, until March 10, for attempting to assault Referee McKenna in a dress rehearsal for the fourth-round game, Bricklayers vs. This is the second time Cant has been held, at least 15 on January 1 eligible for the junior. It is believed that this change in date is the only logical one. I am sure that the delegations at the tournament will return these three amendments to the junior regulations with an almost unanimous vote of approval.

The committee is making another very wise move in changing the date of age from March 1 to January 1 for the coming season. Boys less than 16 on January 1 will be eligible for the boys' class and less than 15 on January 1 eligible for the junior. It seems to me that this change in date is the only logical one. I am sure that the delegations at the tournament will return these three amendments to the junior regulations with an almost unanimous vote of approval.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Speculators for the decline endeavored to bring about another reaction in today's stock market, utilizing the unfavorable week and developments abroad as an excuse and while they succeeded in depressing a number of the active issues, they failed to bring out any large volume of selling or to break through last week's low levels. This was regarded by some observers as an indication of the market's inherent strength, but others were inclined to regard it as merely reflecting a "watchful waiting" attitude on the part of large traders.

Opinion is general that the European situation is exerting a decidedly restraining effect on business, and that public participation in the market is a negligible factor. Some uneasiness was caused today by the further depression of French and Belgian bonds, a number of which established new low records; another slumbering foreign stock market, which is approaching its November low, and news of railroad and miners' strikes in the Ruhr.

Demand for sterling was quoted around 84 45%, and the pound with last week's high of 84 57 1/2, French francs dropped to 6.34 cents, as against Saturday's close of 6.49 1/2, and the extreme low of 6.17, established last November. The high point of 7.04 cents this year was made on January 3. Italian lira sold around 4.70 cents, and German marks were selling at .0047 of a cent (about $1,200 per dollar) only slightly above the low of all time, 4.45 cents, which was established last week. The abrupt break of 8 points in Danish exchange was generally believed to be the indirect result of the weakness of German marks, which had been heavily traded in.

Major activity in the industrial list centered in Baldwin and Studebaker, the former showing a net loss of 1% and the latter 1 1/2%. Pan-American Gas was active and strong on official announcement that the company has no immediate intention of offering a $15,000,000 issue of 7% first preferred stock. Baldwin's report that earnings were from misinterpretation of an amendment of the company's certificate of incorporation. Pan-American A touched $2, and then reacted to 87 1/2 for a net gain of 1 1/2%, and the B closed at 11 1/2, net 1 1/2%.

Weakness of International Paper, which closed at 49 1/2, a net loss of 1%, was predicted on the speculative belief that the annual report would show a net loss. Pressed Steel Car preferred, which has been under pressure for a long time, despite a constant over the dividend, rallied 1 1/4 points on reports that the dividend would be paid.

Railroad shares fared with the rest of the list, with the most activity in the low-priced issues. Standard Oil, which enjoyed a period of strenuous low wages, was quite active around 23, closing at a fractional loss. New York Central dropped 1 point to 88, or 3 1/2 points below the high of the year. Union Pacific established a new low for the year at 135 1/2, but rallied at 134 1/2, net 1 1/2%.

Fisher Body broke more than 5 points on reports of a new funding and Kaiser Wheel rose 6 points on a small turnover. Wilson & Co. was strong on reports of higher earnings. Pressed Steel Car preferred, which has been under pressure for a long time, despite a constant over the dividend, rallied 1 1/4 points on reports that the dividend would be paid.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Foreign Lines Break
(BY A. F. NIGHT WIRE)
NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—A further heavy liquidation of foreign bonds by frightened investors, which carried more than a dozen issues to their lowest quotation of all time, was the outstanding feature of today's bond market.

Virtually all the active French and Belgian issues touched new bottoms, the losses ranging from 3-4 in the case of Belgian 6s. to 2-3-4 in the case of Lyons 6s.

Prague 7½s and Czechoslovakia 6s. also fell.

United States government bonds were firm. The first 1-1/4s advanced 26 cents on $100, the Victory 4 3-1/4s and the new 4 3-1/4s were unchanged, and the other active issues showed net gains of from 4 to 12 cents.

Principal interest in the domestic list centered in the announcement that the $10,000,000 offering of the Northern Pacific refunding and improvement mortgage 6s had been oversubscribed, and the books closed. They were offered at 99 to yield about 5.05 per cent.

Maryland Oil Co. broke 2 points and Cerro de Pasco copper 6s and Liggett and Myers 6s. were off 1 each. Chile copper 7½s were strong.

The weak spots of the railroad list were Missouri Pacific 6s. Baltimore and Ohio 6s. and Missouri 4 1/2s and Kansas City Southern 6s. each off 1 point. Total sales, par value, were $10,281,000.

What is Capt. Rickenbacker's connection with the company that bears his name?

- Capt. Rickenbacker is directly responsible for the design of the car bearing his name. It is the result of over seventeen years practical experience.
- Capt. Rickenbacker has at no time spent more than three months testing the car before a company was organized to manufacture it.
- Capt. Rickenbacker has not only given his name to this company, but every available dollar was invested in it by Capt. Rickenbacker.
- As Vice-President and Director of Sales, it is our belief that no one in the industry gets in more actual time working and planning than does Capt. Rickenbacker.
- The same sense of responsibility that Capt. Rickenbacker has always felt in every undertaking is reflected in his sincerity towards the interests of the Rickenbacker Motor Company. It is intended that Rickenbacker's leadership will be the outstanding characteristic of the company and take its place among the largest of the future.

WALL STREET NEWS

BY MONITOR

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Pan-American continued weak today in further reflection of the reported issue of $25,000,000 preferred stock. The company has issued its statement, claiming that this preferred stock will not be exactly now as the original charter of the company authorized the issuance of $25,000,000 preferred of which $20,000,000 was issued and later left, leaving $14,000,000 of the original authorization unissued. It is understood that the new issue of $25,000,000 preferred stock authorized by stockholders last week for the purpose of protecting the amount authorized in the original charter, and it is not expected that it will be issued at the present time, this feeling bringing a sharp rally before the close.

Strength in Wilson & Co. is attributed to buying from the West, supposedly from interests in intimate touch with the company's affairs. Wilson & Co.'s packers show improved earnings and it is generally believed that when this improvement in the packing industry becomes more pronounced, cheaper stocks, such as Wilson, will be the first to reflect the betterment.

When Condon & Co. retired its preferred stock recently, it was believed that this was being done in order to facilitate the merger with another oil company. Imperial Dutch was mentioned last summer as one of the company's Condon was negotiating with, but traders usually in close touch with the company's affairs, thought the Royal Dutch deal is completely off. However, the company is in a much better position right now to deal with any outside interests. Its business is running along very smoothly, and it is estimated that the dividend for 1923 will be from $16,000,000 to $25,000,000 after allowing for the regular dividend requirements.

Gossett concerning Dechant affairs continues optimistic, and it is estimated that earnings for 1923 were about $10 per share on the common. This will compare with an average of about $2 per share for the period of ten years from the beginning of the war to the close of business in 1921. In addition to the substantial earnings applicable on the common last year, Dechant retired $750,000 of notes which were due serially to 1935.

Directors of the Chile Copper Company are expected to meet soon this week to take action on the dividend question. The board of the reorganized acquisition of Chile of this company by Anaconda, it is believed that dividends of at least $2.50 per share per year will be declared. It will require an increase of 25% in the price of shares on the Chile stock held by Anaconda to pay the carrying charges on the purchases, and for this reason it is believed that the controlling interest will take some steps toward the realization of such payment. At the same time, Chile earnings have been running at a very good rate, and it is believed that a declaration of even $2 per share might be warranted.

We are getting in thousands of dollars from the sale of our stock.

We believe that any industrial company, or any organization, having a legitimate proposition to offer the investing public, should be able to finance by your plan at a total cost of around 12%, and if they use our method you have urging us to recommend your organization to the public.

We are most pleased to recommend you and the service of the organization you represent to those needing financing.

Cordially yours,

Mr. W. C. Cunningham,
Bennett Financing Sales Service,
Los Angeles, Cal.

Dear Sir:

We have sold over five million dollars' worth of stock by mail.

Your past efforts and strong co-operation for my companies have been most satisfactory.

I have received many of the hundreds of letters you receive from investors who write you for guidance and who ask you to recommend money-making opportunities to them.

I most heartily recommend you and your service to any legitimate company seeking quick financing at small cost. I consider you the world's best and will soon consult you on the greatest of all new financing campaigns.

Yours very truly. (Name upon request.)

Don't sit around and wait for some one to turn up to throw a ton of money into your business. You'll likely turn up yourself in the poorhouse, unless you GET ACTIVE and adopt a proven method of quick financing.

Why should you continue trying to put pep and punch into a big force of salesmen or beg friends to invest with you, which only means watching money dribble in slowly.

Here's Another Letter to Keep You Awake—

He Raised $200,000

K-H-J RADIO SKETCH*RADIO FEATURE*Entertainment Given*for K-H-J Patrons*Presents Romance of*Countryside*You Hear Songs They*Call Favorites

In the making of radio entertainment there is no end to what can be done. During its nine months on the air, K-H-J has presented entertainment that covers the complete gamut of musical and educational features. It is significant that another week in the work of presentation has been added to the entertainment offered for the betterment of human life. Presenting a comedy sketch in radio is the antithesis of what is done in the drama, done in the dark, so that the audience can hear extremely interesting lines and words, yet the audience cannot see the various roles played by the first entertainers. In this sketch, for the first time ever given over nothing to be desired in the communication in volume or interest to interested listeners.

The comedy sketch was part of a program arranged through the efforts of Elizabeth Worthley, of K-H-J, who directs the destinies of "Bird Whistling Chorus," and of whistling, despite ill-tempered glances of conservative and disapproving persons, will be the fare and the entertainment of the night. Elizabeth Worthley has spent several hours on the subject of bird life, studying bird life, habits, and songs or language.

ENTERTAINERS UNIQUE

Entertaining themselves "The Sylvan Singers" and embodying a unique combination of bird musicians, boys and girls—will be the only entertainment of the night. Elizabeth Worthley, Laurence Harris and Ward Walton presented a program of the old-fashioned boy and girl. The sketch, "The Kick," was all the Walton, boy soprano, female characters of boys. He was accorded the standing ovation when he sang three years ago. He has now come to soprano no less than ten times. He has every register that either female has. He has delighted his voice largely without any training, and has a repertoire of 100 selections.

Elizabeth Worthley is a dramatic artist in the original combinations of bird music to carry drama, and is a versatile, specializing in character. Ward Walton, baritone, is an amateur. He is a student of the art and has been frequently on the stage.

YOUNGSTERS ASSIST

Young artists particularly from K-H-J last night were favored with piano solos by Ruth Townsend, violinist, of her achievement in the air last night, especially to her relatives, D. G. though, of course, of the radioland profited

Maxine Martin, child pianist, pupil of the Davis Musical College, favored with two piano solos. This little girl, a soloist in a previous child for whom her teachers

Flora Phyllis Kilpatrick, soprano, accompanied by Frances Grant, was heard in five superb solos during the afternoon broadcast.

Her voice is well modulated, flexible in phrasing, of wide range, clearly intoned in all registers. Her numbers yesterday were well chosen for their broad appeal. Her

YOUNGSTERS AID

The kiddies came in for general entertainment last night—whistling numbers, conducted by Ward Mattoon, eight-year-old whistler, lent color to this program with two solos. Bobby McLaish offered a goodnight prayer, Alman E. Urquhart, contralto, accompanied by Florence H. Jones, sang for the young ones, who were especially delightful to the children because they dealt with subjects dear to their hearts.

Mrs. Maxine Martin, child pianist, to which the audience gave a round of applause. "The Lark" was given over to the request of friends of the air.

Her numbers yesterday were well received by these artists, who are old favorites. The listeners gave listeners in this profession, and selections with

FUNERAL RITES FOR PIONEER TOMORROW*LOUIS WEITZ TO BE LAID TO REST AT EVERGREEN CEMETERY

Funeral services for Louis Weitz, pioneer Los Angeles resident, who died suddenly Sunday at his ranch near Covina, will be conducted at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the John R. Paul's mortuary at the intersection of North Broadway and Workman street. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

Mr. Weitz had put a hot flat-iron in the bed to warm it and it had set fire to the bedding. She had to lift her husband out and carry him into another room, and then returned to fight the flames.

Neighbors heard her cries and called firemen, who confined the fire to the bedroom. Mrs. Morlan's injuries were dressed by Dr. J. R. Silverthorn.

THE BIG BITE
In New York a baby was born the other day with a full set of teeth. The neighbors are already hailing the wonder as a future Tammany chieftain.

SOMETHING EAST
An offender recently brought before the court in Chicago was banished from the city for life by the judge. Just now that would seem to be more in the nature of a decoration than a punishment.

GOING DEEP
New York is proposing a law that would apply the death penalty to the purveyors of murderous hooch. It would have them perish with their victims. It looks like business for the electric chair was picking up.

A GOOD TIMEKEEPER
The new face on the bench belongs to Judge Clock. He comes in good time and his orderly movements are indicated by his hands. Evil-minded folk are warned that Clock will get them if they don't watch out. Judge Clock is well-regulated and is neither slow nor fast.

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS
Among our distinguished visitors is Prince Valdemar of Denmark, who is also eminent for his royal connections. He is the uncle of three kings—the rulers of England, Norway and Denmark. A man who can command the intimate companionship of three kings at any time would have the veneration of some of our oldest poker players.

ALL UP IN THE AIR
From "La Bohème" to American jazzbands is the swift descent in a few days of the once-famous temple of classic music, Covent Garden Theater, London, England. Grand opera must therefore be dead in the world's capital. Indeed, Miss Melba herself, acted as high priestess at the last said rites. But if grand opera died at Covent Garden Theater, it received a joyous resurrection by radio. For Miss Melba's silvery voice was placed on the air and was heard all over England and half way across the continent.

CHANGE OF HEART
Over in England many of the wives of union workers firmly refused to vote for the Labor candidates. They supported the Conservatives into power. The women had found that authority intrusted to the usual ran of labor leaders meant famine in the home. The women are not lending their strength to strikers as they have sometimes done in this country. It is seldom that a strike accomplishes anything of advantage to the strikers. On the other hand, it may hit the home and the family hard, by shutting off the base of supplies.

FAT POETS
Styles in poetic figures have changed greatly in this country lately, according to a speaker at the Ebell Club the other day. The speaker wasn't referring to simile or hyperbole, however, but rather to hyperbole. She was referring to physical figures to speak exactly, and she boldly asserted that the new style poets are fat.

The speaker went on to point out that Amy Lowell, the "high priestess of vers libre," always has to take a lode when she goes to the theater and needs a chaise-longue all to herself when she toddles out in society. Of course there are some people who think that if Amy is a poet old Alf Tennyson must have been a boiler-maker and the late Jim R. Lowell couldn't have been anything more harmonious than a bucket-riveter. Still Amy has quite a following, and the one thing bookmakers and "Who's Who" say is results. Besides, despite her poor start, the Ebell Club lecturer went on to pretty well make her case. She named quite a number of real poets who are fat, including Don Marquis and Bob Davis. And she was only talking about New York poets, it seems.

It is true that modern poets are fat, but it is not New York which deserves credit. Walt Mason, one of the most popular poets in the world, now living in La Jolla, Cal., and never a resident of New York, is the man who started the fashion and also the man who started the poetry renaissance we hear so much about. Uncle Walt did something which had never been done before in this country—he made poetry popular, not only with the clear-thinking masses but with quite a percentage of the feather-headed classes. He is the man who put the pep in poetry, and proved that the great general public will read poetry eagerly if assured that it will find humor, geniality and good, hard common sense along with its rhythm, philosophy and sentiment. And just because he did that lots of other poets now are making a living who otherwise never would have got to first base, and quite a few are even growing fat.

Could there be any stronger proof of the deep-seated prosperity, the fundamental soundness of our times? Who can believe that America really has much to worry about, or that any man who really tries can't make a living, or that there's any doubt that day by day, in every way, times are going to get better and better, when our poets—even our poets—yes, even our vars libres poets—are fat and growing fatter?

HIS WEAK END
There are some folks who think that a week-end is the spot on which the dotty friend parks his $14 hat.

WHAT OF OUR SHIPS?
European affairs have been obtruding themselves so insistently in the news since the New Year that most of us have been losing sight of how our own country is carrying on. Congress is in session. It has been considering problems of vital importance to the public welfare; but only the interested groups have been observing what is really taking place.

During the confusion the agricultural bloc has succeeded in getting through the Senate its increased farm credits bill which, in fact, is a kind of farmers' subsidy. It is intended to do for agriculture what the tariff does for industry and the proposed ship subsidy would do for commerce. The Lenroot-Angerson bill provides for government aid through plans for Federal subscription to $60,000,000 stock for twelve new credit departments under the Farm Loan Board, one in each reserve district.

Evidently the farmers knew not only what they wanted but how to set to work to get it. Whether the plan succeeds or fails, it is the plan that the farmers seek. They have now something of their own in the way of government aid, and most of them feel that they are getting fifty-fifty with the manufacturing industry.

While the present extra session of Congress was called primarily for the purpose of providing aid for the American merchant marine, the farmers insisted on going first to the bat. They have now secured the kind of legislation they demanded, and the agricultural bloc is reported to look more kindly upon the proposed ship subsidy legislation.

While all delay along that line is costly and dangerous, the turnoff in Europe has served to give to our American shipping a slight respite. But the necessity for protection for American commerce is not less urgent than that for agriculture and manufacturing.

Europe's condition is such that we of the United States must cease for the time to absolutely depend on Europe for anything. Self-interest and self-preservation demand that we shall make ourselves self-supporting. We cannot depend upon foreign bottoms to carry our produce to foreign ports. The very subsidy that has been granted to the agricultural interests will prove a liability in place of an asset if new markets outside our own country and Europe are not opened for farm products.

Europe was formerly our best customer. But Europe is without money to buy and some of her most important industries have been crippled by the French occupation of the Ruhr. The people are thinking more about fighting than producing. They have nothing to exchange for our farm products. If they cannot pay and will not work we must look elsewhere for markets. South America and the Orient are fertile fields for commercial tillage and we should seek the new markets there through our own merchant marine.

Japan is making the most of the sunshine in the Pacific area while Europe is storm bound. We must get our merchant vessels away from the docks while the season is propitious, and the way to do so is to make it worth while for American capital to seek investment in American shipping. As the President pointed out in his last message, the one way to do this is to provide protection for the American merchant marine. He addressed his appeal primarily to the farmers. The administration in fluency made passage easy for the farm credits legislation; and it is now the turn of the farmers to open a passage for the protection of the American merchant marine.

The women had found that authority intrusted to the usual ran of labor leaders meant famine in the home. ON ART OF WALKING Modern conveniences are in some cases displacing old-time recreations. Once it was a old the pleasure comes back in new form as a sort of relief from too much modern convenience. But the pursuit of happiness is seldom now undertaken in boots or shoes.

It is in disguised forms the art of walking remains. It may be merely an excuse for chasing a small white ball over rough country to an exclusive patch of green-sward. It may be a necessary evil as the result of "no parking" ordinances. In a limited way or for special purposes we still use our legs.

This is good, as far as it goes. Otherwise in the future men might grow wheels in lieu of feet. Modern conveniences are for reducing natural powers.

Therefore it is well that modern men and women are not entirely neglecting the ancient and honorable art of walking. Of course no one who is anyone really walks nowadays. That is entirely out of date. They hike. Everyone can hike without losing caste. Hiking breathes the spirit of independence. The hiker is doing something he doesn't have to do.

But in spite of hiking and golf and parking restrictions the old pleasure of the walk for its own sake—objectionable, indolent, voluntary—is almost extinct.

Of course, on the highways around Los Angeles, walking is no longer to be had for love or money. All one can do is in that line is to play blindman's buff with the motor cars, which is good for training the wits, but isn't walking.

Who will aver that the new riding world is better than the old walking world, that wheels are an improvement on leg muscles?

The tramp and the gypsy were more picturesque and less dangerous than the steam-beam hobo. The hedgehog and the hillside did produce a better type of ne'er-do-well than the railway rods and the stolen motor. The dust of the highway was cleaner than the grime of the switch yards.

If the doctors or the preachers or the press or the professors would start a review campaign to bring back the old art of "just walking," physically, mentally, morally, the whole people would benefit. If we could reach the looking-backward stage where the notion of the Sunday walk or the holiday tramp could bring the same thrill as we get when we crank up the family automobile. . . . Ah! but that is to indulge in a vain dream.

Of course legs have not yet gone entirely out of fashion. We hike, we dance, we cross streets, we sidestep, we scramble, we rush, we jog, we climb, we crawl, we straddle, we perambulate . . . but we walk no more.

WHY GIRLS SHOULDN'T

A girl back in Laporte, Ind., has found a new way of admitting she is beautiful by magnavox. She is telling the world that while she was alone in her kitchen a masked man sprang in and, pulling a red-hot iron out of his pocket, started to mutilate her face with it. "But, struck by my beauty," she shyly confessed to reporters, "he hesitated and then only branded my arm." And he told her, she asserts, that a New York actress was paying him to burn her, because said actress was jealous of the Laporte girl's univaluable beauty.

It was a thrilling story while it lasted. But there is always somebody, in a case like this, who looks at things with the anger eyes of a city editor, even in Laporte, Ind., and some such individual dragged the dread monster, Doubt, into the otherwise pretty and romantic scene by asking how a man could carry around a red-hot branding iron in his pocket. And then some other mean person noticed that the mark on the girl's arm, by which she proved the whole story, looked as if it might have been made by a curling iron.

To Los Angeles it all seems simple enough and rather pathetic. Every day girls who believe they are beautiful come here or write here in hope of stirring malediction to realize of their beauty. They think that's all there is to it—that once Hollywood knows they are ravishingly beautiful it will bring the world to their knees.

Then the antagonists should at once definitely announce that instead of fighting it out in this country they are going to the country immediately south of us, in which dueling also is forbidden. That will give the authorities of both countries along the border ample time to forget they are crossing the border quietly and unrecognized.

Then it would be well to choose seconds several days' journey from here, so that at least three days must elapse after the impending duel is announced before the fierce antagonists can leave for the field of honor.

This will give the police time to so nearly laugh themselves into helplessness that no interference is probable.

Duels, being strictly forbidden in the United States, the first thing men contemplating them should do is to notify the newspapers, and also suggest that they send out staff photographers. This will assist greatly in the matter of slipping across the border quietly and unrecognized.

Then the antagonists should at once definitely announce that instead of fighting it out in this country they are going to the country immediately south of us, in which dueling also is forbidden. That will give the authorities of both countries along the border ample time to forget they are crossing the border quietly and unrecognized.

It looks as if this duel might have been planned as a demonstrator, to prove that the law against dueling should be repealed. For, arranged as efficiently as these gentlewomen seem to have arranged one, a duel really isn't quite as dangerous as a game of mumble-pegs.

To Los Angeles it all seems simple enough and rather pathetic. Every day girls who believe they are beautiful come here or write here in hope of stirring malediction to realize of their beauty. They think that's all there is to it—that once Hollywood knows they are ravishingly beautiful it will bring the world to their knees.

DEUELING IN 1923

Two men connected with one of our motion-picture studios announce that they have quarreled and therefore are going to themselves to Mexico, as soon as seconds can arrive from Chicago and other preliminaries can be arranged, for the purpose of fighting a duel to the death. Since this is a rather new stunt, even for such massed people as motion-picture actors and directors, a few suggestions as to the procedure which should be followed, in this time and country, may be timely.

Duels, being strictly forbidden in the United States, the first thing men contemplating them should do is to notify the newspapers, and also suggest that they send out staff photographers. This will assist greatly in the matter of slipping across the border quietly and unrecognized.

Then it would be well to choose seconds several days' journey from here, so that at least three days must elapse after the impending duel is announced before the fierce antagonists can leave for the field of honor.

This will give the police time to so nearly laugh themselves into helplessness that no interference is probable.

It looks as if this duel might have been planned as a demonstrator, to prove that the law against dueling should be repealed. For, arranged as efficiently as these gentlewomen seem to have arranged one, a duel really isn't quite as dangerous as a game of mumble-pegs.

THE FAULT-FINDERS

"The trouble with Maude," said the oldest of five sisters, speaking of the youngest of them, "is that she is developing into a fault-finder."

"I suppose you mean that she has become the critic on the hearth," said Mrs. A., passing her cup of mero tea.

"Exactly," said the oldest sister. "You know we live together and, if I may be permitted to say so, we have all lived comfortably and, up till now, very happily. We all conform to certain tacit rules of the household, such as punctuality at meals and ordinary consideration for one another, but each of us preserved her personal independence. Now, all of a sudden, nothing satisfies Maude. She criticizes us from morning to night."

"What about?" asked Mrs. B. briskly.

The oldest sister hesitated.

"Why, a lot of things," she said at last. "But I suppose it can all be summed up in this. She appears to think we are not up-to-date—either in ourselves or in our housekeeping."

THAT FATAL RUT

"Are you?" asked Mrs. B. snappishly.

The older sister flushed. The other guests looked startled. But Mrs. E. went on placidly.

"To me, I admit, you all seem to be up-to-date. But perhaps you are not. Perhaps I'm not. Anyway, if I had a younger woman telling me I wasn't, I'd look around a bit before I got angry."

Sister A. so disarmingly that the oldest sister was mollified. Also, she became introspective.

"I have looked around," she admitted, "and" she added in a lower tone, "I can see plainly that Maude is justified in some of her criticisms of Jane and Katherine."

Her hearers laughed again, but she continued without resentment.

"They really are getting slack. Katherine won't dress for dinner any more unless she is going out or some one is coming in. And Jane refuses half her invitations because she says nobody ever goes."

All she wants to do is to go to the theater, where she can be entertained without exerting herself in return."

Mrs. B. was ruthless.

"What does Maude complain about?" asked Mrs. C. sharply.

"Oh, why, well," the oldest sister hesitated again, "she thinks I am getting into a rut," she finally admitted.

"Are you?" asked Mrs. B. sigrin.

The oldest sister reflected.

THOSE USEFUL CRITICS

"Perhaps I am," she said. "I do some things I wouldn't have done a few years ago. For instance, I plan the meals a week ahead. These are specimens for each day in the week, but I do it every week. So we always have roast beef on Mondays, and roast chicken Tuesdays and roast lamb Wednesdays—that kind of thing. You know, it saves a lot of time and thought. She added defiantly. But Maude says it's the way they do in boarding houses."

"I suppose I'll have to stop it. And I've been talking very seriously to Jane and Katherine," she ended virtuously.

Her hearers laughed again.

"She held you all good," said Mrs. A. positively. "Most critics on the hearth are very useful. Listen to Maude, and profit by her criticisms when she's right. But watch her mighty carefully at the same time. Don't let her become a grouch, and don't let her forget her own imperfections. The fault-finders are useful till they become grouchies. Then their usefulness is gone."

"Oh, we watch her all right," said the oldest sister, grimly. "We're all laboring over Maude."

New Zealand Aids Cupid

The New Zealand government has come to the conclusion that parental objections to the marriage of their daughters on account of age are unreasonable. Since early marriages are advocated by that State, the government has decreed that girls under 21 years of age can't get their parents' consent to her marriage she can cite her father or mother before the Supreme Court to give reasons for withholding of consent.

RECOLLECTIONS OF BERNHARDT

Plunge Into Her Art Told Interestingly

Drama Week is Begun With Dr. Gav Lecture

Play as Uplifter Discussed at Club Meeting

BY MYRA NYE

Sarah Bernhardt is closing her dramatic career. With honor and glory she has continued to present art through her medium of talent until her eightieth year. Perhaps no better example can be found in the histrioic art can be cited during the last century.

Yesterday at the Woman's City Club Dr. Allison Gav spoke on "Sarah Bernhardt." He talked particularly of the potentialities of the drama to uplift and enlighten morally as an opening event of Drama Week.

I well remember all the marvel of Sarah Bernhardt. I saw her, a girl in her early teens, as she appeared in Rostand's "L'Aiglon" and in "Camille."

Raised in a strictly Puritan atmosphere, she one day was filled with a consuming desire to see the "Divine Sarah" in a neighboring city. Had I told my purpose to myself and educators I would have been prevented from going. It was the desire of Bernhardt that into which I plunged.

SAW TWO PLAYS

I went alone to the theater on Euclid avenue, Cleveland, to purchase tickets to these two plays I have mentioned, and also to see Maud Adams in "L'Aiglon." The same play with the same actress had the same delight of seeing only three days apart, with Bernhardt's French "Camille" in between.

Although Bernhardt as L'Aiglon spoke French and I had the superficial knowledge of the language as a schoolgirl of the Middle West, I nevertheless realized how her art surpassed even that of Maud Adams.

From the first, I heard every word, understanding intuitively every shaded inflection and missing, perhaps what may have been right.

I sat at the box office, and as I turned from the window with the precious cardboard slips in my hand, I found my face within a few inches of another face, so strange, so soft, so gentle, that I was startled. I was looking into great eyes that I remember as a gray green underneath long bangs that reached to the middle of uneven eyebrows.

TURNED TO WINDOW

She was watching me, but when I looked into her face she smiled and then darted away. Half-questioningly I turned back to the man in the office.

He laughed probably at the look of astonished unsophistication on my face.

"That was her royal divine highness—Sarah herself," he said. "Oh!" I gasped, and in that exclamation revealed my entire heroine worship and joy in the encounter.

Then I watched her as she went to a foreign-looking slender man, looking to him with her very old brother or very young father.

"Maurice, her love child," I was told. Again I gasped childishly. He was the cause of my being bridged to go and see Bernhardt, and there in my hand were tickets to see her twice. And there she was a few feet away and interested in the fact that I had bought those tickets for her.

That was twenty-five years ago. And she did not look even a whit older. I was looking into great eyes that I remember as a gray green underneath long bangs that reached to the middle of uneven eyebrows.

did not know it. From the angle of those days the thought of an "old woman" playing would have slightly nullified my pure delight.

IT IS NOT YEARS

But now my joy in the memory is increased in this particular demonstration of the fact that it is not years more or less that matter.

It is fidelity and sincerity to the art. This was what made her a genius.

So this week I venture the opinion that drama as a means of education will be effective locally, will be effective in the measure that close encounter in Broad daylight a day over twenty-five, and she was fifty-five. I am glad I had bought those tickets for her.

Tomorrow, before the Woman's Club of Hollywood, Mrs. William Barker, president of the club, "Reviews of Recent Plays in New York" and the Wednesday Morning Club will present "The Blessed Damoz," played by students of Southern Branch, University of California, and the Wa-Wan Club will present "The Stranger," by Arthur Stringberg.

BURES CAUGHT IN FLAME TRAP

Bernardino Business Block Menaced

Boiler Explosion Starts Blaze

and Fire to Imperil City in Two Days

BERNARDINO DISPATCH

BERNARDINO, Jan. 22.—Women in their offices, a mother in the basement and a child in the kitchen were threatened to die in the Kats Block, the city's newest, in the heart of the business district, before it was gutted two hours later. All the firemen and engineers who were successively sent to the scene were unable to stop the flames to the last, the estimated damage is $100,000.

At least 100 people, including many business women down from the third floor of the building, were overcome with smoke and fumes. The building was gutted and smoke within ten feet of the explosion in the basement and oil scattered about.

In the offices on the upper floors, clouds of smoke were trapped, clouds of smoke pouring through the windows. Leaning from the windows, Mrs. L. E. Goddard, Mrs. W. E. Wilson, stood by a fireman to a window from which he crawled to a ledge.

Dr. J. W. McNabb, aided in saving three women before the roof on an adjoining building, the Kats Block, collapsed.

It was the second to the city's entire business block within twenty-four hours.

At 10 o'clock Sunday morning, when 5,000 people were in the Cushing Block, one of the Kats Building. The fire at the Cushing Block is estimated to have been extinguished.

But clouds of smoke attracted a great crowd from all over the city. Every available man was required to hold the fire.

BERNARDINO DISPATCH

BERNARDINO, Jan. 22.—A盗贼 entered nearly $1000 in the Bernstein Park Theater last night or early this morning and opened the door to the office and the small safe room. Mr. Police Officer and his rounds about 3 a.m. found the door open in the front door, and the door lying on the floor. The theater was said to have been robbed of about $4000 a month ago. No trace of the犯人 has been made.

The police showed that the犯人 had been carrying a weapon.

Deputy Sheriff Stensland paid a visit to the city institution last night, looking for hold-up men. He found long talk with Martin. He told the police Martin was not the man he wanted, but he had left a different impression in Martin's mind, the police think.

Martin appears to have climbed through the daylight, and into Police Capt. W. H. Lewis' office, and was down to the Sunday morning a light grip on the door handle. The police showed that the犯人 had been carrying a weapon.

Deputy Sheriff Stensland paid a visit to the city institution last night, looking for hold-up men. He found long talk with Martin. He told the police Martin was not the man he wanted, but he had left a different impression in Martin's mind, the police think.

Chief of Police Murray was notified and made an investigation. When the police were notified, they were notified. Simon Cohn, resident of El Rio for more than thirty years, stated the bones were probably those of a white family which disappeared many years ago. He said that a Mexican family also disappeared from here at one time.

SANTA BARBARA STATE COLLEGE TO BE KEPT OPEN

SANTA BARBARA DISPATCH

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 22.—The State Teachers' College at Santa Barbara will not be sustained through State funds, but no closing period will be ordered, announced President Clarence Phelps of the institution today, in stating that reports from Sacramento that Gov. Richardson's retrenchment activities might hit the State Teachers' College.

"We are today every assured that no effort will be made to interfere with the continuance of the college," said Mr. Phelps, "which has become not only a State institution but a record over the years. Friends of the college may rest easy, for we will be allowed our usual appropriation and we are seeking funds to provide for needed extensions."

He said that the executive committee, following the acceptance of State Commandant Seth Millington to come to Riverside to make an address on that advice say the Legislature has not thought of curtailling its activities.

RIVERSIDE LEGION PLANS GREAT TIME

RIVERSIDE DISPATCH

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 22.—Riverside Post No. 79, American Legion, has an unusual way of rounding off meetings, to which the public is invited on February 7. The decision has been reached by the executive committee, following the acceptance of State Commandant Seth Millington to come to Riverside to make an address on that advice say the Legislature has not thought of curtailling its activities.

ANAHEIM, Jan. 22.—Purchasing a small quantity of chloroform on the pretense that he was going to use it to remove a small grease spot from his coat, Earl House, 23 years of age, attempted to commit suicide in an alley here by drinking the contents of the small vial. He was taken to the Orange County Hospital where, physicians stated, he would recover.

Although it was believed that he drank a sufficient quantity of the drug to cause his death, the immediate administration of antitoxins is thought to have saved his life. Coalings two weeks ago. An effort is being made to get in touch with his sister, whom it is said lives in Long Beach.

Lodi Believes Record Is Not Equalled by Any Place of Size in Country

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

LODI, Jan. 22.—According to figures released by John Blakely, City Clerk, the entire assessed valuation of the city is $4,143,825.41. Bank statements recently published show there is almost $8,000,000 on deposit.

To have more money on deposit than the entire assessed valuation is believed to establish a record unequalled in any city of equal size in the United States.

INDIA HAS INDUSTRIAL AWAKENING

Baptist Church Pastor Describes Development in Asia

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

REDLANDS, Jan. 22.—In a few years to be reckoned with in the industrial and trade markets of the world was the statement of Dr. J. M. Baker, of Ongole, India, pastor of a church in a town of more than 10,000 members, in a talk here. Dr. Baker is in charge of the Baptist mission work in the Ongole district, is personally acquainted with Gandhi and all the leaders of India, and says that everything points to a great awakening.

"India and China have millions of poor and underfed people," he said, "but their lot is improving and it is said now that a laborer can live comfortably and raise a family on $7 a month. What such cheap labor means, immigration schemes have made families impossible and the rapid development of manufacture beyond my power to tell."

Acting as his own attorney, Wolfe tried a group of strikers in an attack on Southern Pacific shop employees at the station gate last August, the indictment charged.

Ryan has not been tried. He is now attacking George B. Stouts, San Bernardino pensioner in San Bernardino, last July. John Schaffer, convicted of participating in the attack, is serving a ten-year sentence in the state road camp.

Nine other strikers are awaiting trial on indictments charging participation in a riot in San Bernardino on Aug. 16, 1922.

WOODEN BARS DO NOT KEEP LONG BEACH PRISONER IN WHEN HE WANTS OUT

BERNARDINO DISPATCH

LONG BEACH, Jan. 22.—"Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage," at least not in Tank 2 of the Long Beach City Jail. The walls are of wood and the bars of the same material, so Bishop Martin, 21 years of age, met with little impediment when he escaped the place between midnight and daybreak this morning.

The thing that puzzles the police is not how Martin got out, but why. It is not known if he was to have been held a few days to answer a fifteen-day sentence for carrying a weapon.

Deputy Sheriff Stensland paid a visit to the city institution last night, looking for hold-up men. He found long talk with Martin. He told the police Martin was not the man he wanted, but he had left a different impression in Martin's mind, the police think.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

COXSBURG, Jan. 22.—Employees of the Southern Counties Gas Company, digging a ditch near El Rio, three miles from here today, unearthed skeletons of five people, believed to be an entire family which disappeared from their home.

The home was the scene of a pleasant gathering of friends and relatives, a reception being held from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon. An elaborate dinner, to which about thirty close friends and members of the family were invited, was served in the evening. Guests from many near-by cities were present.

The occasion was marked by a delightful reunion of old-timers who showered congratulations and some gifts in keeping with the spirit of the anniversary were received, besides scores of letters and telegrams from distant points.

Four of the skeletons were found in the dirt, while the fifth was found in a nearby rock.

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 22.—Preparations are being completed for the annual carnival to be held February 11 to 18. One of the features will be the selection of a queen by popular vote. More than a dozen beautiful señoritas residing on both sides of the international line will be candidates.

The carnival this year promises to be greater and other new attractions will be introduced.

Parents of the girls learned, however, that they were on their way to San Diego and wired the police here to arrest them and break their double elopement plans.

Following the arrests, messages were received that the parents would come to San Diego to day to take charge of the youthful elopers.

There will be six contests, each lasting two weeks. In each contest the best recipe submitted will win a first prize of $10, the next best $7.50 and the third best $5. In addition to these there will be two special prizes of $10 and $5 for the two best recipes for Spanish dishes. These Spanish-dish recipes may be submitted at any time during the twelve weeks, or until April 7. All other recipes must be submitted before the end of the two weeks allotted to the contest in which each is intended as an entry.

The first contest began January 13, and closes Saturday, January 27. It is a contest for the best recipe for a soup or an appetizer. The winners will be announced in The Times on Saturday, February 3.

The second contest, which will be for the best recipe for preparing fish or a fish sauce, will begin January 27 and close February 19. Winners will be announced February 17.

The third contest will be for the best recipe for preparing meat or a meat sauce. It will run from February 10 to February 24. Winners will be announced March 3.

The fourth contest, to run from February 24 to March 10, will be for the best recipe for the preparation of vegetables. Winners announced March 17.

The fifth contest, March 10 to March 24, will be for the best salad or mixed dressing. Winners announced March 21.

The sixth contest will run from March 24 to April 7. It will be for the best recipe for a dessert. This may be cake, pastry or frozen or moulded desserts. Winners in this and in the special Spanish-dish contest will be announced April 14. Honorable mention will be given worthy recipes which do not win prizes.

The Times reserves the right to print any recipe submitted in its columns or in book form. In such case the name of the author will also appear.

Recipes must be written on one side of the paper only, must be legible and plainly marked with the name and address of the author.

No manuscripts will be returned.

It is not necessary to be a subscriber to The Times to compete. Anyone may enter any or all of the contests, submitting as many recipes as desired.

Originality, economy and adaptability to Southern California conditions will be considered in judging the recipes. Contestants should submit only recipes that have been thoroughly tested out in their own kitchens.

Specify exact amounts of ingredients, using level measurements. Do not use trade-marked names of ingredients.

Recipes should be sent in as early as possible. A recipe may be sent in before the actual start of the contest in which it is entered but in this case the fact must be noted at the top.

Address all recipes to The Times Recipe Editor, Times Building, Los Angeles.

LEADERSHIP IS NEED OF WORLD

BIBLE NOT SECTARIAN, SAYS EVANS

than in any other line of human activity. He declared that the failure of all Socialist colonies, culminating in the collapse of Russia, can be traced to the lack of capable industrial and commercial leadership.

"Christian leaders cannot be found by ballot," declared Mr. Cartwright. "They must rise by ability and training through the fires of competition and the cruelties of elimination. They must win on merit."

"Christianity with all of its unequal cruelties feeds the world. That is why Socialism with all of its boasted virtues starves the world. [Cheers and applause.]

After paying tribute to the white-clad women of the W.C.T.U., who he said were responsible for Eighteenth Amendment, he said:

"If the Christian people of the Christian churches in the United States only realized their power they could pass a Nineteenth Amendment, placing the Bible in the public schools of America as a text-book."

"This solution is possible. It can be brought about by the cooperation of bankers, merchants and manufacturers. It cannot be done by force; it must be done by education."

MANY CHANGE TACTICS

"What is gained by force must be maintained by force. What is gained by education will maintain itself," said the speaker, amid applause.

"In many of the eastern cities the employers and other business men's organizations have seen the light. They are figuring, not fighting. They have substituted the far-reaching policy of education for the short-sighted policy of force."

"Cleveland and Philadelphia are notable examples. Los Angeles are still more notable. I can remember when the Merchants and Manufacturers Association of this city was regarded as the work of the workingmen's talents. It was a fine organization, due to the fact that it is labor's best friend. [Prolonged applause.]

"Employers and employees will have less trouble in adjusting their differences when the world corrects its false notion of what wage slavery is. Labor pays its own wages. It always has and it always will, whether under Bolshevism or under plain common sense Americanism."

Touching upon the subject of his speech, Mr. Cartwright pointed out that increasing wages automatically result in higher living costs. He asserted that when one group of workers expects more than its share it does so at the expense of another group, and that if wages in general are too high for the work of a nation will languish and labor will be without employment.

PRODUCTION, WAGE GAGE

"A country can and will pay wages in proportion to the production per man, per day," said he. "The greater the production, the higher will be the wages. The lower the production, the lower will be the wages."

The great natural industries of the world are wage slaves. When work is high wages will be high. When business is active, wages will rise; when business is stagnant, wages will fall, costs of living fall also.

"When wages rise, costs of living rise with wages. Costs of living and business were done up in the last war. When we want things that people want and buy."

"The well nigh universal belief that we can raise the standards of living and otherwise help the worker by raising wages is one of the most futile of human blunders."

"Opportunities lie all about us," the speaker said in conclusion. "Only a few have the vision to see them and profit by them. The men with vision, with initiative, give employment and opportunity to those who see less clearly."

Mr. Evans closed his speech by pulling down the man above, but we can help him by unfolding, developing, educating him, by stimulating his vision and initiative until he can help himself. [Applause.]

"The world turns its attention to this means of relieving poverty, poverty will disappear."

"We do not need the iron and schisms that have strangled Russia and threaten to destroy Europe. All we need is a little better, a little finer Americanism."

NOTED WRITER IS DEAD HERE

the State legislatures there were few. John Corwin did not help to elect or defeat. In the historic Ohio fight when the late Marcus A. Hanna came within a single vote of being defeated by Robert McKimson of Cleveland for reelection as United States Senator was Mr. Corwin who published the first news as to how close the vote would be.

Among the older newspaper men who were acquainted with the correspondent who furnished the names of John Corwin's friends to the press, with whom he was on the "inside" of most of the political deals in evidence in his time. And in his last days in Los Angeles when death was gripping him and he knew it nothing so warmed his heart as the story of his "scoop" and what a hand he had played in events that were of a national character.

In his early life Mr. Corwin was an attorney. He was graduated from the law school at Washington, D. C. Later he became connected with the Bureau of Printing and Engraving, and then launched himself on his newspaper career.

GOES TO TREASURY

In 1902 he joined the force of special agents of the Treasury Department at Washington, and had been stationed at various cities until April 1903, wasted by illness. He came to Los Angeles in the hope of benefiting his health. But he was able to do but little work. And thus, in the last few months, he lived in the past, recounting with unfeigned glee many of the historic scenes he had known and in most of which he had been a part.

Even within the past few days he read carefully the national and international news, displaying his usual interest in everything, and his mind was clear until he fell into a deep sleep at noon and died without awakening.

Richard Corwin was related to the late Frank C. Roberts of the Long Beach Telegram, who died one year ago yesterday, and to Belle McCord Roberts, now editor and publisher of the Telegram. He was a member of the Elks, belonging to a Chicago lodge, and a member of the Gridiron Club, Washington.

His body will be sent to Chicago, where it will be placed beside that of his wife, who died a year ago in Philadelphia. At his home it was said he had some months ago, when he knew the end probably would come at any time, made complete plans for his funeral services and burial. He leaves no close relatives.

MRS. ROE GETS LIFE SENTENCE

Dr. William Evans, famous Bible expositor, told the members of the Ministerial Association yesterday morning in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium that 75 per cent of the students in the country should determine to rise by education and not by force.

"Evangelists deny the divinity of Jesus Christ before their senior year.

After paying tribute to the white-clad women of the W.C.T.U., who he said were responsible for Eighteenth Amendment, he said:

"If the Christian people of the Christian churches in the United States only realized their power they could pass a Nineteenth Amendment, placing the Bible in

TITLE CONTEST IS POPULAR HIT

Thousands Seeking for Best Picture Titles

Third Subject Printed in Today's "Times"

Demand for Book Enormous; Lists 1500 Plays

Blazing a trail of mystery and merriment wherever a copy of The Times finds its way, the Playgoers Revue, novel puzzle picture event just announced by this newspaper, is being hailed as the biggest hit in years.

Thousands of persons in Los Angeles and all the cities and towns around are having the time of their lives picking titles for the pictures appearing each day, and it looks as though the committee of judges will have its work cut out in deciding who will receive the $500 in cash prizes at the end.

No one knows as yet the best or most appropriate titles to the third picture which will comprise the issue. That remains to be seen. The judges will decide. But meanwhile a whole lot of persons are racking their memories to recall plays they have seen or heard about and are fitting them to the pictures. Much ink, paper precipitates more argument among those who have varying opinions as to the best titles, and the fun is spreading rapidly.

BOOK IN DEMAND

The demand for the "Book of Plays" published by The Times as a convenience to participants in the Playgoers Revue has so far swamped the news staff. Stacks and stacks of letters arrived yesterday morning with dimes or their equivalent in stamps, with the urgent request to hurry the book along.

"Book of Plays" contains a list of nearly 1500 titles to plays that have been produced on the American stage, covering a period of approximately fifty years. With this book, becoming only necessary every day at the pictures each day, then scan the list for titles that fit best.

Hundreds of people decided they couldn't wait for Uncle Sam to bring them a copy of the book so called at the circulation counter of The Times main office at the intersection of First and Broadway, or the branch office at 621 South Spring street. Copies are on sale at 10 cents, and one will be mailed postpaid anywhere upon receipt of 10 cents coin or stamp.

The third picture in the Playgoers Revue will appear in this issue of The Times. A new one will appear tomorrow and the Revue will continue until all thirty pictures have been printed. Those who missed the two pictures that have already appeared may get free copies by writing, telephoning or calling in person at The Times.

NO ENTRANCE FEES

There are no entrance fees to the Playgoers Revue. The only requirement is that participants send in either a three months' or twelve months' subscription to the Los Angeles and San Francisco Times, new or renewal. The subscription must be paid in advance. It makes no difference who the new or old subscriber is, or where he or she resides.

The subscription may be sent in any time during the Revue, if immediate delivery is wanted, but not later than with the set of title coupons submitted at the close of the Revue.

Each day a title coupon accompanies the picture, wherein are to be written the titles. These coupons are to be saved until the set of forty titles is completed and turned in for the purse of the judges. All title sets accompanied by a three months' subscription will be judged in class A, in which the judges will give from $1 up to $500. Those with a twelve-months' subscription will be judged in class B, with prizes from $50 up to $2500. Full details, together with rules and regulations are given in the advertisement in The Times today, containing the third picture of the Revue.

PROHIBITION PADLOCK IS PUT TO USE

This Provision of Dry Law is Applied to Los Angeles Man by Court Stipulation

The first case under what is known as the "padlock" provision of the Volstead law, involving Harry Margolis, keeper of a delicatessen at 4006 Central avenue, was called in U. S. District Judge Bleddes court yesterday on the motion of U. S. Dist.-Atty. Burke, that Margolis be restrained from further dealing in liquor.

According to the statements of local prohibition enforcement officers, Margolis has been the most persistent violator of the prohibition law with whom they have had to do. He has been arrested six times, and now has on deposit $34,000 cash as bond, to insure his appearance for trial.

A stipulation was agreed to by Asst. U. S. Dist.-Atty. Lissner that the trial be held before the trial Margolis, his servants, employees and all others are restrained from manufacturing, keeping, selling or bartering any kind of intoxicating liquors, or moving in any way interfering with liquor, furniture and fixtures in and upon the premises and from conducting or in any way permitting the continuance of a common and public nuisance upon the premises.

The date of the hearing of the case in its merits was set for March 28, and in the meantime Margolis is tied up with a court trial for violating the禁酒令 in breaking the prohibition law.

If he offends in any way the stipulation, he will not only be guilty of the violation of the prohibition amendment, but also of contempt of court.

THE FOLLIES OF 1923

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Recklessly, audaciously, the Bachelors' Club sets out upon its annual folly, tempting providence, defying fate.

Ostensibly it is "repaying those who have entertained them during the past year and for whose hospitality the bachelors are indebted." So says the official announcement of the sumptuous fancy dress ball which these daring hounds will give at the Los Angeles Country Club on February 12. But actually they are flaunting their wealth, their good looks, taunting the married, proclaiming their eligibility, and gathering together all the prettiest and most socially attractive maidens in town to gawk over them.

The very cream of us, socialites, are invited to the party again how unassimilable they are how consciously secure, in spite of those irresistible charms of theirs which occasion perpetual covetousness.

There is even a certain subtlety in their announcement of "patronesses"—ladies who, in the light of that reciprocity motive, must have "entertained them" during the past year.

The very cream of us, socialites,

GRIEVED MOTHER ENDS LIFE

Deserter by Husband Thought to be Reason for Woman Committing Suicide With Gas

Grief over her husband's disappearance is believed by police to have caused Mrs. Florence Ammann, mother of three children, to end her life yesterday at the Hawthorne Furniture Company, 1390 East Eighth street, where she was employed as a finisher.

Her body was found in the company's workshop by D. J. McLeod, superintendent. A rubber tube leading from a gas jet to the woman's mouth indicated the manner of death.

Several notes scribbled on wrapping paper and on the reverse side of sandpaper were found near the woman. One of these was intended for her daughter Helen and the other for her two small sons, Curtis and Ellis. Another note bore the name of a druggist, William Barnhart, 1210 Wright & Callender Building, and requested him to make provision for the children's care. The last note, intended apparently for the husband, read:

"I did think I would be afraid, but I'm not, only cold and so lonesome. Oh dear heart, dear heart, be still wait for your—"

The woman's daughter warned her that men's promises are made only to be broken, and the ones to the boys urged them not to make promises which could not be kept or to say anything they did not mean. The body was taken to the E. C. Koop mortuary.

It was learned by police that the woman's husband deserted her and their children, leaving them destitute, and that she has been despondent and worried over financial affairs. She was 40 years of age.

A new policy of dealing with speeders was inaugurated yesterday by Police Judge Crawford. In effect this policy will be "to hit speeders where it hurts worst—in their pockets."

His plan, which was put into operation yesterday, calls for fining speeders $5 for every mile their cars attain in excess of the legal limit. Only the worst of offenders will be sent to jail, Judge Crawford indicated.

Judge Crawford imposed ten-day sentences each on C. L. Ray and F. Williams for traveling thirty miles an hour and P. M. Russell and J. Mitchell for going twenty-nine miles an hour.

Judge Crawford declared that he had made a careful study of the situation and Judge Channing had initiated his plan of jailing all speeders on November 12 last.

He declared that many of those jailed treated the matter as a joke and that jail terms apparently did not affect them.

Judge Crawford is of the opinion that the alternative of going his policy will prove efficacious.

The message was received by Irving G. Thalberg, director general of Universal City.

THE QUAREL

The matter of honor proceeded after an interchange of words between Capt. De Conti and Capt. Kerry.

Both men signed yesterday that the challenge and acceptance constituted a personal affair which demanded satisfaction and that they would complete arrangements.

Leventhal came with this attitude. It was learned that Malcolm Waite, one of Kerry's seconds, communicated with Joe Fellows, Wilmington shipbuilder, in regard to chartering or purchasing of a barge, the purpose being to tow it out beyond the three-mile limit where the duel would be fought without infringing on government jurisdiction.

The success of the negotiations has not been learned.

came before Judge Clock in Superior Court yesterday as his first case.

The house is at 1550 Bernard Park, and is at present occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Leventhal, the latter being the girl's stepmother.

Mrs. Leventhal believes that a fair rental for the house is $75 a month, and demands in her suit that her father pay her that amount for having occupied the house.

Mr. Leventhal declares that the love and affection which his daughter gave him for the house, is now nonexistent, and asserts that she has refused to leave her home.

Leventhal claims that he has been compelled to abandon the house.

Leventhal advanced a considerable sum to Mrs. Leventhal for her encumbrances from the
